Proteacher Collection
www.proteacher.org
Accessed on 10-13-2015
Published on 11-3-2007
Copyright © 1998-2015 ProTeacher®

stained glass

Compiled by: BookMuncher

You can use this for any season... right now, we did it with leaves.

Find a simple clip art picture of the object you want. I've attached the leaf one that I used for this one. For winter we do really cute mittens. Paste the clipart to Word, and blow it up big. Then cut out one copy of it and glue it on black paper. Copy on the black paper. So what you'll have is a white object framed all in black.

(Note: The one I'm attaching is done for you b/c I did it in Paint so that the black is already on the page)

Copy enough for your kids. Have them decorate the object and the white frame around it if you've allowed for a frame with MARKER. Has to be marker.

Then they paint baby oil on any white parts. (try to keep it off the black-- you can see in the photo the one that has the baby oil on the black) They wipe it off with paper towels.

When it dries, you'll have stained glass! It is SOOOOO pretty... the light seeps right through all the colored parts. I hang mine all touching each other and it looks like one big stained glass window.

Here's a picture... ignore the rest of the mess- you can see them up on the window in a line.

View this file at: http://www.proteacher.org/file.php?fid=588

Source:
stained glass
By: BookMuncher
Accessed on 10-13-2015
Published on 11-3-2007
http://www.proteacher.org/c/_stained_glass.html
The ProTeacher Collection - All rights reserved For personal, non-commercial use only.
Do not copy, post online, reproduce or transmit.
Copyright Â© 1998-2015 ProTeacherÂ®